PAINTSVILLE — Fourteen indictments were issued by the Johnson County Grand Jury Friday, including one charging a Johnson County woman with manslaughter.

Myra Castle, 53, of Wittensville is charged with second-degree manslaughter and operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol/drugs first offense within five years.

According to the indictment, on or before Aug. 16, Castle allegedly acted wantonly in the operation of her motor vehicle and caused the death of 18-year-old Casey Roger Mollett Jr. The indictment says she was operating her motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol or other substances at the time of the crash.

According to a press release issued just after the crash, Castle crossed the center line of the roadway and struck the motorcycle operated by Mollett on Rt. 201 in the Sitka community of Johnson County. Mollett was pronounced dead at the scene by Johnson County Coroner

J.R. Frisby.

Castle was transported to Paul B. Hall Medical Center in Johnson County following the crash and allegedly admitted to having drunk vodka earlier in the day. She also agreed to submit to a chemical test.

Castle pleaded not guilty to a DUI

FRANKFORT — Kentuckians without health insurance can begin shopping for coverage next Tuesday through the state's health benefits marketplace as required under the new federal Affordable Care Act (ACA), also known as Obamacare.

A vast majority of residents in Lawrence, Johnson, Floyd and Martin counties currently have public or private insurance, according to the 2011 American Community Survey, a poll of the U.S. Census Bureau.

A total of 13,426 people in those four counties are not covered by health insurance, the survey shows.

In Lawrence County, 18.4 percent, or 2,509 people, are not covered, while 17.2 percent, or 3,378 people, in Johnson County do not have health insurance.

In Floyd County, 17.9 percent, or 5,982 people, have no insurance, while 16 percent, or 1,557 people, in Martin County are uninsured.

Gov. Steve Beshear announced recently that more than four out of five uninsured Kentuckians seeking health insurance through kynect, the state's marketplace, will qualify for discounts to make insurance more affordable. He said that in certain plans, the discounts will completely eliminate monthly pre-

INEZ — The second of two deputy clerks who pleaded guilty to charges stemming from missing money in the Martin County Clerk's Office was formally sentenced Thursday and immediately taken into custody after having delayed the sentencing for nearly two weeks.

Tamberlyn Hairston was sentenced to five years in exchange for a guilty plea to abuse of public trust under $10,000 and four counts of second-degree criminal possession of a forged instrument.

Hairston's sister, Tonya Mills, 47, who pleaded guilty to abuse of public trust less than $10,000, also received a five-year sentence but was already in jail and received 154 days jail credit at her sentencing Sept. 6.

Hairston was credited with the one day she had served in jail.

About two weeks prior to Thursday's sentencing, Hairston asked the court for mercy to allow her to attend her juvenile daughter's first specialist visit and provided proof of her daughter's illness, explaining that she had only learned about the illness the previous week and that test results showed her miums for some individuals.

In May, Beshear said that an additional 308,000 low-income or disabled Kentuckians, including 8,200 in Lawrence, Johnson, Floyd and Martin counties, would be able to get Medicaid coverage under ACA. The number includes 1,243 people in Lawrence County, 1,698 in Johnson County, 3,356 in Floyd County and 814 in Martin County.

Those individuals, along with uninsured citizens not eligible for Medicaid, can sign up starting Tuesday through kynect, where they can compare monthly premiums and other costs like co-pays. Under the ACA, no one can be denied coverage for any reason, including pre-existing conditions.

Those seeking health coverage through kynect will be asked to provide their age, home address, tobacco use and household income. Household income will determine the amount of a discount. For example, a person earning up to 45,960 a year will qualify for a family, as will a family of four earning up to $94,200 a year, according to Beshear.

Individuals can decide among several health plan options with differing monthly premiums. Keeping monthly premium costs low generally means slightly higher out-of-pocket costs (such as co-pays when visiting the doctor); likewise, a comparatively higher monthly premium usually means lower out-of-pocket costs.

There is no average cost for health insurance through kynect – each individual or family must use kynect (online, toll-free phone number or in-person kynector) to determine the personalized discount and choose the best plan for their needs.

At a recent press briefing, Beshear provided multiple scenarios of individuals seeking insurance through kynect and their possible costs:

- A 22-year-old single college student earning $20,000 per year could purchase a plan at $51 per month.

- A 24-year-old single man with a pre-existing health condition earning $24,000 per year could purchase insurance for $98 per month.

- A single 50-year-old man who smokes earning $30,000 per year could purchase a plan for as little as $160 per month.

- A mother with two children earning $40,000 per year can buy insurance for as little as $133 per month.

- A couple with no children at home, aged 54 and 56, earning $34,000 per year could purchase a plan for $47 per month.

- A family of four (adults aged 40 and 44, two children), earning $70,000 per year, could purchase a plan for $403 per month.

Under the ACA, states must certify that every health insurance plan offers coverage for a uniform list of medical needs, called "essential health benefits." In Kentucky, these benefits are more robust than previously required. Every health insurance plan sold in Kentucky now must include coverage for the following: ambulatory patient services (medical care you receive without being admitted to a hospital, such as in a clinic or doctor's office); emergency services; hospitalization; maternity and newborn care; mental health care, including substance abuse treatment; prescription drugs; rehabilitative services and devices; laboratory services; preventive and wellness services and chronic disease management (routine physicals, screening, vaccines, etc.); and pediatric services, including oral and vision care.

Individuals who sign up for coverage through kynect by Dec. 15 will activate their health insurance effective Jan. 1, 2014. Enrollment will remain open, however, through March 31, 2014.

Individuals can visit kynect.com or call toll-free 1-855-4kynect (459-6328) starting Tuesday to begin enrolling.

LOUISA: Opinion issued

ness owner requesting a wet/dry vote in Louisa is invalid.

Hogan said that the city of Louisa's fifth-class city status does not allow for a vote due to statutory changes that went into effect June 25.

Under state law, only cities of the first four classes can place wet/dry elections on the ballot.

Louisa Mayor Teddy Preston said Thursday that he has not been approached by anyone asking that the city take steps to become a fourth-class city.

"Nobody has asked me about it, but I think it's based on population, and if that is the case, we might not be able to anyway," Preston said. "I will check into it to see, though, because I would like to find out and we might want to apply."

In his release, Hogan said

Louisa "does not fall under the provisions of the statute that would enable it vote itself 'wet' if a majority of voters chose to do so."

Businessman Gene Wilson recently opened a new hotel in Louisa and said in an interview with The Big Sandy News in June that he was interested in seeing Louisa go wet because Applebee's has agreed to build a restaurant beside his hotel if they vote to go wet.

A petition with signatures from voters in the city who were requesting a wet/dry vote was turned in in August to Lawrence County Clerk Chris Jobe's office for validation.

Hogan said in his release that based upon the legal provisions, he advised Lawrence County Judge-Executive John Osborne and members of the Lawrence County Fiscal Court that the petition is invalid as submitted to the county clerk and therefore he cannot be legally accepted.

"While I personally would oppose the city of Louisa going 'wet' as a resident of the town, my legal opinion is not based on my own personal feelings, but on Kentucky Law," Hogan said in the release. "As a fifth-class city, the provisions of the enabling statute simply aren't available here and the petition is invalid."

Hogan also said in his release that due to the petition's overall invalidity, all other questions were moot, such as whether the majority of those who signed the petition are legal residents of the city.

"I am disappointed that this petition is not valid in its current state," Hogan said in the release. "Regardless of my own personal views, I support the people being able to decide for themselves by a popular vote what direction they want to go. However, I must follow the law and abide by what it says."

Special assistant to the commissioner of the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Board Trey Hieneman said last Wednesday that the changes in the statutes would require the city to be reclassified and that it would take a vote by the General Assembly.

"As to the benefit of becoming a fourth-class city, that could be better explained by the League of Cities," Hieneman said. "They would also be able to better explain what qualifications would enable them to be eligible for consideration to the new class they are seeking."

Prior to the changes in the statute, a fifth-class city was eligible for a wet/dry election.

daughter had a tumor.

The court granted the request and allowed her to continue to remain free until the Sept. 19 sentencing.

Hairston was in tears as was her family as she was led from the courtroom to begin serving the sentence.

Hairston and Mills were indicted in December 2012 on charges of abuse of public trust shortly after State Auditor Adam Edelen released the findings of an audit of the clerk's 2011 financial statement and found a number of problems, not only with the 2011 financial statement but also in a review of the 2012 accounts in which more than $16,000 in un-deposited cash receipts were discovered.

Hairston and Mills were fired from their job by their mother, County Clerk Carol Sue Mills, in August 2012 after funds were reportedly found missing from the office.

According to her indictment, on or before Jan. 9 through July 14, 2012, Mills obtained and dealt with public money or property subject to a known legal obligation to make a specified payment or disposition as her own, by intentionally failing to make the required payment or disposition of the property when she retained for her use funds of the clerk's office in an amount over $10,000.

According to Hairston's indictment, on or about March 17, 2011, through June 21, 2012, Hairston, also known as Tammy Perry, obtained and dealt with public money or property subject to a known legal obligation to make a specified payment or disposition as her own, by intentionally failing to make the required payment or disposition of the property when she retained for her use funds of the clerk's office in an amount under $10,000.

On Oct. 15, 2011, Hairston was allegedly in possession of a forged check made to Kathy Preece in the amount of $350, with the intent to defraud; on Oct. 21, 2011, she was allegedly in possession of a forged check made to Tim Smith in the amount of $175 with the intent to defraud; on Oct. 28, 2011, she was in possession of a forged check made to Kathy Preece in the amount of $420 with the intent to defraud; and on Nov. 11, 2011, she was in possession of a forged check made to Kathy Preece in the amount of $320 with the intent to defraud.

The missing funds have reportedly been paid back to the clerk's office.

Chamber has new business app

PAINTSVILLE — The Paintsville/Johnson County Chamber of Commerce has introduced a new marketing advantage for local businesses — “Save Local Now” — a deal and event app for iPhone and Android.

The new program provides local businesses with the mobile marketing tools they need to reach today’s consumer, according to a chamber press release. “Save Local Now” is “unlike any daily deal service on the market,” the release said, and there are no minimum purchase requirements, no delays in uploading or changing deals, and no fees to businesses and organizations in the Paintsville/Johnson County Chamber of Commerce.

All member businesses have been automatically uploaded onto the “Save Local Now” platform. Those that choose to offer a deal, event or special promotion can upload it themselves and change it as frequently as they wish.

Unlike other savings apps, “Save Local Now” provides total control to the merchants. They can access their business profile and change their deals, events or promotions without needing to wait for a third-party administrator. The offers are immediately made available through the “Save Local Now” iPhone and Android apps, mobile Web site and savelocalnow.com.

According to Fran Jarrell, executive director of the Paintsville/Johnson County Chamber of Commerce, the chamber contracted with “Save Local Now” after spending the past year researching shop local and daily deals programs.

“We felt it was important to find a program that would change consumer behavior by rewarding them for shopping local,” she said. “‘Save Local Now’ provides that incentive and gives total control to the business. Each business decides what deal or incentive to offer and for how long. They are not required to offer discounts of 50 percent- 75 percent like with some well-known daily deal programs. ‘Save Local Now’ is a win-win for the businesses and their customers.”

“Community organizations are looking for creative ways to market themselves, and be an asset to the businesses they serve,” said Keith Latore, “Save Local Now’s” co-founder and CEO. “That’s why we created Save Local Now exclusively for chambers of commerce and community organizations. Save Local Now benefits everyone. The Paintsville/Johnson County Chamber of Commerce now has a tool to help promote local businesses and organizations while encouraging people to shop local. Business members have access to an iPhone and Android app they might not otherwise be able to afford. Consumers have a convenient source for finding local businesses, deals, events and promotions.” Save Local Now utilizes GPS functionality in order to draw residents and visitors alike to Paintsville/Johnson County chamber member information.

To become a member of Paintsville/Johnson County Chamber of Commerce, contact Jarrell at 606-789-5688 or franjarrell@pjccchamber.com.

3 ways to speed up your computer's boot time

by Kim Komando

Kim Komando hosts the nation's largest talk radio show about consumer electronics, computers and the Internet.

As computers age, they naturally slow down - especially when they're starting up. It's just a fact. It isn't a fact you have to live with, though. There are some simple steps you can take to speed up a slow-booting computer. Cue the "Hallelujah Chorus."

Now, the reason startup gets slow is that there's too much information for the computer to load at once. So, you need to trim the fat. These simple steps are the knife.

1. Ditch the non-essentials

Your computer is loading a whole bunch of programs at startup. Some, like your security programs, are crucial. Other programs, maybe not so much.

Go to Start>>All Programs>>Startup. Any programs or files in this folder will start when you turn your computer on. Simply delete the program or file icon to stop it from starting.

If you find a program you never use, you might as well just remove it completely. You can use Windows' built-in uninstaller.

For something a bit more powerful, check out a free third-party program like Revo Uninstaller.

Of course, the Startup folder isn't the only place programs run from. You can use another free program Autoruns to find the rest. It lists the programs set to start during boot and what each program does. It even knows enough not to remove essential programs like your security software.

I recommend disabling programs before you decide to remove them. That way if you accidentally disable something you need, you can easily turn it back on again.

2. Delay the inevitable

You will probably find programs that should start automatically, but don't need to start right away. For example, an instant messenger program can start after your security software.

Here, free programs like Startup Delayer and TopWinPrio will start programs one by one, instead of all at once. You can even set the order.

This won't make the individual programs load any faster, but it will take strain off your system. Your computer should be more usable while they're loading.

3. Delete the clutter

Your programs themselves might be cluttered with unneeded information. It might be image caches, history files or temporary files. If they have to check this information when they load, that's just more things for the computer to process.

The freebie CCleaner is a simple way to remove this clutter. Just stick with the program's default settings. You might mess up some of your programs if you don't.

CCleaner also includes a registry cleaner. Cleaning the registry doesn't do much speed-wise for modern computers. However, broken registry entries can cause errors on startup. So, running the registry cleaner might be useful from time to time. Just be sure to let CCleaner make a backup in case something goes wrong.

Bonus Step

You might think about leaving your computer turned on. Contrary to what many people believe,

Allie Meade

Meade named Betsy Layne 'Idol'

BETSY LAYNE - Big Sandy Community and Technical College (BSCTC) held its Big Sandy Idol competition at Betsy Layne High School on Friday, Sept. 6.

Twelve students participated for the coveted spots for the annual Big Sandy Idol regional competition set for March 2014 at the Mountain Arts Center.

Allie Meade was crowned the overall winner, and the runners-up were Alex Meade and Kayla Gillespie.

"We had a tremendous showing at Betsy Layne High School," said Clayton Case, director of fine arts at BSCTC. "The talent of Eastern Kentucky continues to amaze us when we make stops at schools across our service area."

The event also featured a small concert by the Big Sandy Singers, an elite group comprised of BSCTC students.

Big Sandy Community and Technical College is celebrating milestone anniversaries on its Mayo Campus (75 years), Prestonsburg Community College (50 years) and Big Sandy Community and Technical College (10 years).

TRMC rep will discuss healthcare reform

LOUISA — Beginning Jan. 1, 2014, U.S. citizens are required to have health insurance - with few exceptions. Key initiatives of the Affordable Care Act (i.e., healthcare reform) are fast approaching Oct. 1. These are new initiatives and there will be a lot of surrounding confusion.

As a key health provider in Lawrence County and the surrounding area, Three Rivers Medical Center (TRMC) wants to provide education to community members in "an easy-to-understand way, as well as help them sign up for insurance through the Health Insurance Marketplace, Medicaid and/or assistance with their premiums for medical coverage," a press release said.

On Sept. 26 at 5:30 p.m. at the Lawrence County Extension Office, a representative from TRMC will "clear up any confusion" surrounding the Health Insurance Marketplace and Medicaid Expansion, the release said. These initiatives are part of the Affordable Care Act, which requires most U.S. citizens to have health insurance beginning Jan. 1, 2014.

A primary goal of the Affordable Care Act is to help uninsured, eligible Americans gain access to affordable healthcare. Financial help to lower costs is also available for people who qualify.

Americans will be able to find health plans on the Marketplace that cover a comprehensive set of benefits, and they cannot be denied coverage based on a pre-existing condition. Some of the health benefits include preventive care and wellness services, doctor visits, prescription drugs, hospital and emergency department care, lab services, pediatric services - and more.

Kentucky and West Virginia have chosen to expand Medicaid coverage beginning January 2014. This expansion will increase eligibility limits for adults to 133 percent of the Federal Poverty Income Level (equivalent to an annual income of about $15,290 for one person). This will open Medicaid coverage to a new population, including childless adults.

LIHEAP vendor meetings set

The Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP), administered through Big Sandy Area Community Action Program (BSACAP), will begin pre-registration of elderly and disabled families Oct. 14, with regular services to begin on Nov. 4. Vendors interested in providing fuel services (coal, propane, wood, kerosene) must attend a vendor informational meeting. Meetings are scheduled as follows: Floyd County, Sept. 25, 2 p.m., BSACAP Floyd County Service Office, 60 Court Street, Allen; Johnson County, Sept. 27, 9 a.m., Johnson County Courthouse, 3rd Floor Conference Room, Paintsville; Magoffin County, Sept. 27, 10 a.m., BSACAP Magoffin County Service Office, 131 Church Street, Salyersville; Martin County, Sept. 27, 11 a.m., Roy F. Collier Community Center, 387 East Main Street, Inez; and Pike County, Sept. 25, 10 a.m., BSACAP Pike County Service Office, 478 Town Mountain Road, Pikeville.

Vendor application packets will be given out at the vendor meetings in each county, along with other information and instructions. To become a LIHEAP vendor, you must submit an application. You will also need to bring a copy of your Federal Identification Number or Social Security card and a completed W-9 form. If you provide service to more than one county, you will only need to attend one county meeting, not one in each county. The county meetings will provide all the information you need about becoming a vendor. If you have any questions, call (606) 789-3641.

LIHEAP, a national energy assistance initiative funded by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, is funded in Kentucky by the state Cabinet for Health and Family Services and Community Action Kentucky.

Loftus is recipient of 2013 Acorn Award

PRESTONSBURG — Dr. William J. Loftus, professor of psychology at Big Sandy Community and Technical College (BSCTC), was selected as a recipient of the 2013 Acorn Award.

The award was presented during the luncheon program for the Governor's Conference on Postsecondary Education Trusteeship on Friday, September 13 in Louisville.

The annual Acorn Awards recognize outstanding teachers at Kentucky's public and independent colleges and universities.

The program is sponsored by the Kentucky Advocates for Higher Education, a non-profit organization dedicated to improving the quality of postsecondary education in Kentucky. Recipients receive a $5,000 honorarium and are selected based on information they provide about their reasons for selecting college teaching as a profession, their teaching philosophy and their professional achievements.

"His length and breadth of experiences at the college and Eastern Kentucky have imbued his professional practice with a creative and evaluative energy, a diverse social vision grounded within a variety of learning environments, and an empathic response to the need for educational meanings within individual and community lives," said BSCTC President George D. Edwards.

Loftus has taught psychology for more than 20 years at BSCTC. He has also served as the Phi Theta Kappa advisor during this time, working with Phi Theta Kappa officers and members to help them attain their goals and be successful. Dr. Loftus holds 10 Phi Theta Kappa Kentucky Regional Outstanding Advisor Horizon Awards from 1993-2013 and was honored with Phi Theta Kappa Advisor of the year award in 2013.

"Without him, many of the students likely would never have believed in themselves. He truly made a difference, a difference measurable in graduation rates that simply would not have existed but for his generous and loving heart," said state Court of Appeals Judge Sara Walter Combs.

Loftus has also received numerous awards for his unique and innovative teaching methods during his tenure at BSCTC. Some of these accolades include University of Kentucky Alumni Association's Great Teacher Award, three BSCTC Great Teacher Awards, and four National Institute for Staff and Organizational Development (NISOD) Excellence Awards.

"I truly want to leave a legacy of servant leadership here," said Loftus. "The students at Big Sandy Community and Technical College are great, eager to learn and eager to make a difference. I want to walk side by side with my students and eventually walk behind them as they become the leaders of tomorrow."

Loftus studied at Loras College in Dubuque, Iowa, where he received a bachelors and a master's degree in psychology. He attended Florida State University for his doctorate degree, which he received in 1989.

In "A Student's Tribute to Dr. Bill Loftus" a former student said, "Bill Loftus is a man of numerous accomplishments, academic rigor, mentorship, compassion, and most of all a man with an immense consideration for those whose lives he touches."

Loftus is the second BSCTC faculty member to earn the Acorn Award. Dr. Thomas Matijasic was selected as a recipient in 2006.

it won't hurt your computer if it's on 24/7. It also doesn't hurt it to turn it off every night.

The one downside to leaving your computer on is that it uses more energy. This can increase your electric bill, which you don't want.

That's why computers have Sleep and Hibernate modes. These use much less power, but you don't have to wait an eternity for your computer to start again. There are even programs like SetPower that give you complete control over how they work.

Learn the difference between Sleep and Hibernate, and which one is right for you.

Still, it's always a good idea to streamline your start-up. Some of the steps above can also speed up your computer in general. So, give them a shot.

Eagles turn back Harlan Co.

PAINTSVILLE — Johnson Central won a showdown with fellow mountain powerhouse Harlan County Friday night.

The Golden Eagles won convincingly, defeating the visiting Black Bears 36-14.

Johnson Central moved to 4-0 after posting the win. Following the loss, Harlan County, which made a two-hour trip to Paintsville for the non-district game, dropped to 3-2.

Dominant Johnson Central has won by an average of 43 points in each of its four games.

Host Johnson Central controlled the first half. After holding Harlan County out of the endzone on a promising opening drive, Johnson Central made the most of Harlan County miscues. The Golden Eagles led 36-0 at half-time.

Johnson Central took a commanding 21-0 lead out of the opening quarter.

Junior halfback Daymion Belcher led the Johnson Central offense. Belcher rushed 10 times for 158 yards and two touchdowns. The productive Belcher delivered scoring runs of 84 yards and one yard.

Senior halfback Jordan Young added 24 yards on two carries for the Golden Eagles.

Johnson Central quarterback Zach Gound completed one of three passes for 80 yards. Gound's lone completion went to Dalton Adkins for an 80-yard touchdown.

The Johnson Central defensive unit delivered a score when Brad Auxier returned a fumble 25 yards for a touchdown.

Truman Salyer hauled in a two-point conversion pass from Gound following Auxier's touchdown.

Josh Dillon also ran for a two-point conversion in Johnson Central's win.

Fresh off booting a state-record tying 58-yard field goal in a 53-7 victory over Perry County Central, Johnson Central kicker Tyler Pack connected on a pair of extra-point kicks.

Carson Whitehead led the Harlan County offense. Whitehead rushed 22 times for 93 yards. Fred Massey added 81 rushing yards on three carries for the Black Bears.

Harlan County was held scoreless until the fourth quarter when Cole Wilson scored on a four-yard run. Wilson also added a successful two-point conversion run following the scoring scamper.

The Black Bears' other touchdown came on a one-yard scoring run from senior quarterback Scotty Bailey later in the final quarter.

Johnson Central will host Boyd County this Friday night. Kickoff for the Johnson Central-Boyd County football game is set for 7:30 p.m. at Golden Eagle Field.

Jude named OVC Newcomer of the Week, Sports Network National FCS Co-Freshman of the Week

BRENTWOOD, Tenn. — Running back J.J. Jude was named the Adidas OVC Newcomer of the Week following his performance in the Eastern Kentucky University football team's 56-24 win at Morehead State Saturday.

Jude carried the ball 33 times for a conference season-high 195 yards. The redshirt freshman's four rushing touchdowns tied the EKV single-game record which was last reached by Mark Dunn against Southeast Missouri on Oct. 22, 2005.

The native of Hager Hill and graduate of Johnson Central High School averaged 5.9 yards per carry on his 33 carries, after only having 19 total carries in the first three games of the season. Jude scored the first two touchdowns of the game in the first quarter, added a second quarter 11-yard run and the final score came on a 17-yard scamper early in the fourth quarter.

The other weekly award winners were Eastern Illinois quarterback Jimmy Garoppolo (Offensive), Tennessee State defensive tackle Samquan Evans (Defensive) and Tennessee State kicker Jamin Godfrey (Specialist).

Jude picked up another honor Monday afternoon as he was named The Sports Network's national FCS Co-Freshman of the Week.
